Food Safety & Quality

ABOUT THE AWARD

Instituted by AIFPA to honor organizations, institutes & innovators ensuring food safety & quality concern for consumers globally, highlighted by recent outbreaks of food poisoning in countries like India and other nations. This issue poses a significant public health challenge, affecting both developed and developing nations.

Food processing Industry cannot develop unless this issue is tackled with the highest priority. Two pivotal areas requiring immediate attention include:

These efforts aim to elevate food safety and quality standards within the food processing sector.
